Course Description

The content focus in Japanese 3 will be on 100 kanji characters, reading stories, writing compositions as well as cultural perspectives. The class will also practice Japanese on the computer in all perspectives, such as listening, reading, writing and speaking. Online website may be used to practice these skills.

My goal of teaching Japanese is to foster students to become life-long learners who can communicate their thinking efficiently and effectively with people in the world. They can become a bridge to bring gaps closer between countries. Learning Japanese and understanding cultural practices and perspectives, are vital steps toward fluency.
